Contributors to performance

- The primary driver of outperformance was security selection. Selection within the industrials, healthcare, and consumer staples sectors contributed to relative results.
- An underweight allocation to healthcare and an overweight to information technology was additive to relative returns.
- The top relative contributors were PayPal, Etsy, and Microchip Technology.

Detractors from performance

- Security selection within the financials sector detracted from relative performance.
- An overweight allocation to industrials and an underweight allocation to consumer discretionary detracted from relative performance.
- An underweight position in Apple, not owning Tesla and an overweight position in Fidelity National Info were the top relative detractors.

Major changes to portfolio in the period

- During the first quarter our active exposure to the industrials sector increased and our overweight to information technology decreased.
